Overview

TeamMate Screen Riser offers complete flexibility in office or active learning environments when the focal point requires a screen. When there isn't a need for this, the user can simply remove the screen at a click of a button.

With a contemporary yet functional design, the Screen Riser comes as a single or a dual (back to back) solution that can be suited for various architectural requirements with an array of customisable options. Two grab handles allow the unit to be positioned in strategic places as well as moving aside for storage and nesting together with other units with its cleverly designed base.
